

Police Instructor 201:

Deliver Dynamic Presentations, Create Engaging Slides, and Increase Active Learning

Police Instructor 201 will provide educators and trainers with new skills and unique methods to create interactive and effective law enforcement training programs.

- Creative Slide Design
- Public Speaking with Impact
- Storytelling Design and Delivery
- Engaging & Effective Humor
- Experience Based Training
- Dealing with Disruptive Students
- Effective Use of Videos and How to Find Them
- Managing Law Enforcement & Cadet Learning Styles
- And much more

Leadership is a key component of Police Instructor 201. Trainers are leading the way in the law enforcement community, and with that realization, they must also perform like leaders in the classroom and benefit those around them.

After attending Police Instructor 201, participants will have an arsenal of resources they can immediately use to enliven their training sessions. Each trainer will receive a copy of Police Instructor, the handbook created to help them deliver dynamic presentations, create engaging slides, and increase active learning.

Instructor/Author: Richard Neil instructs for several of Ohio's basic peace officer training academies and conducts advanced training for veteran law enforcers. Richard recently retired after a distinguished law enforcement career. He has conducted training for officers, cadets, parents, and children and has presented in front of civic groups, governors, and White House cabinet members.

Richard wrote his book, Police Instructor, to stimulate ideas, stories, discussions, and positive action by police instructors – he is committed to the advancement of law enforcement training.

Dates/Times: August 14 & 15, 2012, 8:30am-4:30pm

Location: Mott Community College, Regional Tech Center, 1401 E. Court St., Flint, MI 48503

Cost: LEORTC Members – prepaid Non-Members - $150.00 p/p
Delta College Consortium Members - $95.00 p/p

Registration: LEORTC Members & Non-Member Agencies – (810) 232-2654
Delta College Consortium Members – (989) 686-9176